Difference between Wikipedia Search Vista Gadget and Search wikipedia Search Gadget is that, in Wikipedia Search Vista Gadget, there is a setting to allow you to use any dictionary you have on your computer. This allows you to search for a word or phrase you are not sure about a definition of it. If you don't know the word or phrase, search wikipedia for the word in English and if the word exists there, you get the definition from there. For example: If you don't know the word “burping”, search for “burping” in the English dictionary. If the word “burping” exists there, you have the definition of it in the English dictionary. In a foreign language, translate the word “burping” to that language and search for the translation of the word. If the translation of the word exists there, it will give you the definition of it. So, you just have to provide the word, which you are not sure about its meaning. If you are searching in English, the English dictionary is used to translate the English word for you. If you don't know the word “Burping”, search for “Burping” in the dictionary. If the word “Burping” exists there, you have the definition of it. You don't have to translate it again. Your computer will do it for you. User Manual - Wikipedia Search Vista Gadget 1. Go to your start menu and go to all programs>search and run.
